VINEGAR BITTERS

WE CURE ALL DISEASES FREE FROM ALCOHOL

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing the merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

J. WALKER, R. H. McDONALD & CO., Druggists and Gen. Agts., San Francisco, Cal., and cor. of Washington and Charlton Sts., New York. SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS & DEALERS.

POLITICAL.

SPEECH OF HON. T. M. MARSHALL.

One of the largest meetings ever held in Allegheny city, took place by the friends of Greeley, Brown and Buckalew, Saturday evening, 17th inst. After the organization the President, Dr. Coffee, introduced the Hon. T. M. Marshall as "the orator of the evening, and the Chevalier Bayard of the Republican party." Mr. Marshall on coming forward was received with a perfect storm of applause, which continued for several minutes. After the shouting and cheering had somewhat subsided, Mr. Marshall stepped forward and said: My fellow-citizens—More than thirty years ago when a mere lad, and standing within a stone's throw of this corner, I was called upon to defend the same principles, though not the same party. I defend here to-night. [A voice: You were for Henry Clay.] No, Sir, I was not for Henry Clay. I was for James G. Birney, and I was among the first Abolitionists of the county. I was taught the principles of human liberty at my mother's knee. My old father prayed that he would see the day when all men would be free and equal, and yet after speaking thirty years in defence of these principles, because I, to-night, as a free man, chose to vote for a true and tried leader, Horace Greeley, I am told that Tom Marshall has left the Republican party. If I have left the Republican party, I have a great many companions, I shall not feel lonely. But what is the Republican party composed of? Is it composed of Assessors and Revenue Collectors. Are these officers the Republican party? If they are it is because the people have permitted them. The Great Honest Heart of the people that wants not office, that cares not for office is not with them. How did the Republican party obtain its form and substance? I shall not trouble you with reading its history, but shall trace it briefly in a few words. They met in Philadelphia in 1856, and adopted as a platform the Declaration of Independance, that all men are created free and equal. Every line and letter of that platform is embraced in these three propositions: First—Free men; second—Free labor; third—Free lands. The platform does not say a word about Banks or tariffs, but is built on one great granite principle. And now we stand to-night, eye to eye looking each other in the face, and show me the man from the Rocky shores of the Pacific to the Granite Hills of the East, who is not free except the Southern white man. Show me a black skin and I will show you a free man, and his former master is not free.

Next we come to free labor. It is free to every man except the late southern slaveholders. Haven't we free lands? Every acre from ocean to ocean is free, and every man can assert his right save the Southern white man. Then the war came and went, and we are told that we must not leave the Republican party that made land free, labor free, and men free. But is it the same party that made labor? No! It was the great heart of the American people that did it. When the first regiments went to war from this city, they were Irish and Germans and Know Nothings as well. Everybody contributed toward the grand result. No party did it, (at this point an obstreperous Grant man interrupted the speaker, and several voices cried "put him out,") Mr. Marshall—No, don't put any body out, this is a free meeting. If anybody wants to ask a courteous question I will try to answer it, and if I can't I will get down and let some smarter fellow try. But I won't submit to being asked insulting questions as I am Irish and will give as well as take. And now, who were those who came home from the war crippled and wounded? Didn't the Irish Catholic who sacrificed his sons, have the right to say, "I gave my jewels to free the slaves. [Applause.] The German crossed the broad ocean and came here without a dollar, but with a big, brave, honest heart. He was content to go out and get a patch of ground that an Irishman or American would not touch, land that would not feed a goat. But with German pertinacity he goes to work, and in a few years he runs all round the Yankees land, gobbles it up, and the "wilderness is made to blossom like a rose." The next generation saw the Germans a power in the land, and when they went out to the war, and their blood purpled every battle's field, do you tell us that nobody struck a blow for human liberty but Grant? (Cheers.) Who are the true heroes of the war? They never wore shoulder-straps—they wore no stars. I respect Grant; I voted for him, and gave you Democrats many a hard hit for not voting for him. I don't believe in this partizan cant, "anything to beat Grant." But Grant never commanded a regiment that had not his equal in it.

He was not a great boy, nor by any means was he a handsome boy, nor do I think his wife has any cause to be jealous of him. But I think he was a good, honest boy. The member of Congress for his district procured him an appointment to West Point, and he graduated from there like the Irishman's horse, "all over the field." [Laughter.] He served in the Mexican war with distinction, and after the close of the war was stationed in the west. He retired from the service for reasons best known to his conscience and his God. He engaged in two or three occupations with but poor success.

When the war broke out, this son of the Republic was appointed to a colonelcy at the first jump. I shall not trace his career. We paid him all he earned. When the war was over he came home without a wound on his body. He had $20,000 a year and was chief of the greatest army the sun ever shone on.

A poor client of mine had five sons. He wasn't a Democrat nor a Republican. He was an Irishman. Two of his sons joined the three months call. At the expiration of that term those two and one other joined the three years army. Before their term of service had expired the old man was gathered to his fathers, and the care of the little farm was left to the old woman and the two youngest boys. The old woman came to my office one day and said of the three sons in the army: David was killed, another was wounded, and the third was away in the Carolinas. A short time afterward the next boy said to his mother he would go and avenge David or die. She could not prevail on him to stay. He fell within six months from that day. The last and youngest came into town to see the battle out. That mother had sent her five sons to the war, every one of whom was either killed or wounded—not for stars or bars, nor for a general's pay. They went for thirteen dollars a month.

These are the men who fought the battles, and they tell me that they are not Republicans because they won't vote for Grant. It was you poor men who lifted the flag; [applause.] And they tell us unless we vote for Grant we are "not in favor of the war."

I don't care about quarrelling with my old Republican friends, but let me ask who freed the slaves?

Lincoln's proclamation of emancipation says it was a "necessity of the war." It was a "necessity of the war" that the slaves were declared free. And yet we hear the insolence of gaugersand soup collectors crying, "our party freed the slaves." Grant always was a Democrat, and he said if he knew this war was to be carried on to free the slaves his sword would never have been drawn. And they tell us, that Horace Greeley is a recreant to his glorious history. I know Horace Greeley. He is as pure as a child. He is the only man in public life whom I could love, yet if you pick up the partizan papers you find this good noble soul described as a fool, a clown, and a harlequin, as a man who goes about shabbily and oddly dressed with old cow hide boots, and one leg of his pants rolled up for the mere love of eccentric notoriety. He is also guilty of every crime on the calendar. He is the author of the Asiatic cholera. He is responsible for the Chicago fire. He sold a cow that had a calf that was cousin in some remote degree to a calf of Mrs. O'Leary's cow that kicked over the lamp that set fire to the barn that burned Chicago [Roars of laughter.] He had read Mr. Greeley's book. "Recollections of a Busy Life," and he thought it one of the finest proofs of the worth of Mr. Greeley's real character. He said in that book he had no higher ambition than that it might be written on his tombstone that he was the fonder of the New-York Tribune. But he, the speaker, thought the proper epitaph of Horace Greeley ought to be that he was the founder of the Republican party. [Prolonged cheering.] He was an instructor of the nation in national and political honesty and virtue. It had been said of him by Gratz Brown that when that old white hat was on his head it covered the largest brain in the United States, and that that old white coat covered the warmest heart in America. [Applause.] Look at his history. A poor boy, born in the rocky hills away up in New-Hampshire, the son of a poor farmer—(at this point the stage gave way, but a temporary stand was erected in a few moments, and Mr. Marshall resumed.) They say that Greeley is fickle—that he is not a good business man.

He begged and borrowed money (after starting the Tribune) to fight the battle against every species of crime and wickedness of New York city. How he succeeded is well known. His fame is not built on his sighs and noses of humanity. His fame was made in a freeland, and in the interests of humanity; and now let us make him the President of

The Beaver Argus.

J. WEYAND, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

Beaver, Pa., August 28th, 1872.

GREELEY, BROWN & BUCKALEW.

A mass meeting of the friends of Greeley, Brown, and Buckalew will be held in the Court House in Beaver on Monday September 2 at 7 p. m.

Let there be a full attendance.

Hon. Chas. R. Buckalew, Hon. Montgomery Blair and Hon. Daniel Kalbfus, will be present to address the people on the issues of the day.

Come one, Come all. By order of a21:2t COUNTY COMMITTEE.

—Gold sold in New York on Monday at $1.12⅛@1.12⅜.

HON. A. G. CURTIN, Ex-Minister to Russia, arrived with his family in New York, on the 25th inst. He came in the steamship Republic. We suppose the long mooted question as to where the Governor stands, politically, will soon be decided.

GRANT papers declare that the Republicans who are out in favor of Horace Greeley are men unknown and without influence. Here is a list of a few of Greeley's followers whose names are known to almost every elector in the Northern States:

Senator Trumbull.	Cassius M. Clay.
Senator Schurz.	Hon J K Moorhead,
Senator Fenton,	J. D. Cox.
Senator Tipton,	Congressman Tilman,
Senator Sumner,	Governor Brown,
Ex-Secretary Wells,	Hon H H Selden,
Ex-Senator Dixon.	Hon E. D. Culver,
Hon Montgomery Blair,	Hon W Spooner,
General Banks,	Hon G A Grow
General Pleasonton,	Hon M H Grinnell,
Gov Palmer, Illinois,	Hon J B. Grinnell,
Judge Davis,	Hon D W C Littlejohn,
Hon. J. F. Farnsworth,	Hon I Donnelly,
Gov Blair, Michigan,	Ex-Gov. Alvord,
Gen. Kilpatrick.	Chief Justice Chase,
G W Julian,	Hon J. C. Sloan,
Ex-Senator Wilkenson,	Hon Thos J Marshall.

THE election for State officers, Congressmen etc., for West Virginia, was held last week. From the latest returns it appears that Mr. Jacobs has been elected Governor over Mr. Camden, the nominee of the Democratic party. It is amusing to see the Pittsburgh Gazette and other papers claiming it as a Grant victory.

These are the facts: Jacobs is a Democrat and the present Governor, whilst he had a good many friends in the Convention, he saw Camden had more, and alleges that the convention was packed. He therefore did not allow his name to go before the Convention, but came out as an independent candidate.

Nearly all the Republicans supported him, and, as the result proves, a large number of the Democrats. Both Jacobs and Camden are openly avowed Greeley men. One of his most efficient supporters was a Colonel in the rebel army, and now a friend to Greeley.

Politicians can count nothing on this election except that the power of party has been broken.

THE Radical of last week makes a vigorous attack upon Thos. Marshall, esq., on account of his Greeleyism, and as a crushing argument, points to his speech in Beaver one year ago in which he spoke favorably of Gen. Grant. The Radical, we take it, therefore, believes that to support a man once or to speak in his favor involves an obligation to support him again and to speak favorably of him forever afterwards. If that is its idea, let an application be made of its teachings: A citizen of the county is nominated for a local office. He has heretofore been looked upon as an honest man. He obtains a majority of the votes of the people at the October election, is sworn into office and for two years he fills the position well and no complaints are heard. During the third year, however, he makes companions of people who are not believed to be honest, he engages in practices not reputable, squanders the people's money, and endeavors to carry out schemes which are anything but creditable to himself and beneficial to the county. Now if he should be able to procure a re-nomination for the same office, the Radical's morals and teachings would oblige us all to support him again, simply because we had once before given him our aid, and spoken kindly in his behalf. Out upon such abominable reasoning as that!

Grant then that Mr. Marshall and thousands of other Republicans voted for General Grant in 1868. Grant that they were satisfied with his administration for two years and spoke favorably of it. What comes next? During the third and fourth years he sought to degrade Charles Sumner, entered into the San Domingo scheme, made war on the old leaders of the Republican party because they would not assist him in carrying it through, permitted the sale of arms to France while our own nation was expressing sympathy with Germany, botched the settlement of the Alabama claims, ignored the honest statesmen of the country and formed combinations with politicians who were notoriously dishonest, appointed the friends of these disreputable persons to office, and when their defaulting and thieving became a reproach to the party and the shame of the country, he wrote a letter to one of them at least (Tom Murphy collector of customs at New York) expressing the utmost confidence in his personal and official integrity.

General Grant is a candidate now for re-election. Hon. Thomas Marshall and thousands of other Republicans all over the country have lost confidence in him and desire to see some one else fill that position. The Radical says, "you voted for him once, and you are a "Benedict Arnold" or a "sorehead" if you do not vote for him again." We leave the people themselves to determine whether such teachings are intended to advance the moral and material interests of the country, or only to furnish opportunities for the demagogues and scoundrels, who desire like hungry jackals, to prowl through our State and National Treasuries.

THOSE who think a stock-gambler, a bribe-taker and a member of the Treasury Ring will make a safe governor will vote for Hartranft.

Those who believe that dishonesty, corruptibility and incompetency are proper qualifications for the first office in the State will vote for Hartranft.

Those who are willing to have for their executive officer the intimate friend of Yerkes, the broker who is now in the penitentiary for larceny, the bosom companion of Calhoun, who resigned the position of United States pension agent in order to escape dismissal as a defaulter, and the partner of Evans, who robbed the State of nearly $300,000, will vote for Hartranft.

Those who are willing to put into an office of great responsibility, a bogus military character and legislative rooster will vote for Allen.

Those who wish to continue in power the Treasury Ring will vote for the ticket nominated by that Ring.

ON the 22d of March, 1867, the Hon Henry Wilson, now candidate for the Vice Presidency on the Grant ticket, introduced in the Senate of the United States the following joint resolution. It was referred to the Judiciary Committee, and appears to have been smothered there:

"WHEREAS, Jefferson Davis, a citizen of the State of Mississippi, was captured by a military force in the service of the United States on the 11th of May, 1865, and has since been held in close confinement as a prisoner of war, and as a prisoner of State in Fortress Monroe, Virginia; and

"WHEREAS, The said Jefferson Davis has persistently declared his innocence of the offenses charged against him, and, through his legal advisers, by all means known to the law has sought to and demanded a public speedy trial by due process of law before a civil tribunal of competent jurisdiction; therefore,

"Resolved, by the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring, That the longer confinement of the said Jefferson Davis without a trial, or the assignment of a specific time for a trial, is not in accordance with the demands of justice, the spirit of the laws, and the requirements of the Constitution; and that common justice, sound policy and the national honor unite in recommending that the said Jefferson Davis be brought to a speedy trial, or that he be released from confinement on bail or on his own recognizance."

Now let us hear from the Office-Holders' organs another chorus of denunciation against Mr. Greeley for his shameless and treasonable course in signing the bail bond of the arch traitor!

A lot of rebel archives were purchased sometime ago by our government from a southern man named Pickett. Among these was a communication from "Prof." Holcomb to the confederate government, in which he stated, that while in Canada in 1864 he met at Niagara Falls "Judge Black, Mr. Van Dyke, and Hon. Charles R. Buckalew, all of Pennsylvania." The Hartranft organs of this State, since the publication of Holcomb's communication, have been assiduously engaged in trying to make the public believe that Mr. Buckalew was in treasonable correspondence with the agents of the rebel government at that time in Canada and avow that he "was as much of a rebel at that time as was Jeff Davis himself." Now, see how Mr. Buckalew meets the charge. In his speech at Lancaster last week while referring to Holcomb's communication he said:

> Now if the professor had found it worth while in making his report to go on and to state what was the exact truth, that he saw Mrs. Buckalew and myself in the public reception room of a public house in one of the most public places on the continent in the summer months outside of the great cities, and that he talked to us in a very unimportant discourse for a period of perhaps eight or ten minutes, that we then separated; and that we never saw each other before or since—if he had stated all these details, I suppose Mr. Errett's patriotic concern would have been wholly prevented. [Laughter and applause.]
> In that brief conversation, which took place as I have described it, the only thing of consequence or interest that occurred was this: When we were about leaving the Professor said that he supposed Mr. Lincoln would have difficulty in raising the enormous number of troops that he had called for, (500,000 men had been called for on the 18th of July) and I said in reply that the troops would be raised. He said he had been told differently; and I responded that if any one had told him so they had misinformed him. Thereupon we separated.

So much on what Mr. Buckalew did while in Canada in 1864. A few words now as to what took him there at all. In the same speech above referred to he said:

> "While a member of the United States Senate we were informed that in Canada the govern't was able to administer Indian affairs without having their money stolen by their agents. We were informed that they were able to manage their Indian affairs without having Indian wars, and it was supposed that it might be profitable for us to look into the details of their system. We did not suppose that that government had acted upon our example and had followed our methods of dealing with the Indian tribes. We did not suppose, for instance, that they had paid the Indians gratuities promised them by treaty in Middletown bank notes, as was once done to our Winnebagos, [applause and laughter] and it was thought proper to investigate their system. Mr. Harlan, of Iowa; Mr. Doolittle, of Wisconsin; and myself, three members of the Indian Committee, were selected as a sub-committee, to perform this duty during the recess.

With this the calumny founded on the Holcombe letter may be dismissed to the limbo assigned to such disreputable inventions of desperate and corrupt partisans. Whoever, in the face of this explanation from a man whose life is its best refutation, and whose word was never questioned, shall repeat the slander simply proclaims his own infamy.

AMONG the campaign arguments comes one in a special from Washington to the New York Herald. It alleges that the straight-out movement of the democrats is being aided by the Grant party managers, in order to divide the democratic vote with Greeley. And in this manner secure the election of Grant beyond all doubt. The special to the Herald says it is known that two members of the cabinet were accessories to the organization of the disorganizing convention while in session in Baltimore and expected to defeat the acceptance of the Cincinnati nominees. All this has been a matter of political gossip until to-day, when the issue was made between the national republicans, with headquarters in New York, and the Congressional committee, with headquarters in Washington. The former, it appears, had determined to no further assist the Louisville movement, which Senators Chandler, Harlan, and others, who control the Washington end, were equally determined to continue as they had begun.

Accordingly the congressional committee to-day sent to the postmasters and officers of internal revenue through the country 25,000 copies of a circular signed by Blanton Duncan, under the frank of Senators Chandler, Logan and Harlan and Congressmen Hays and Platt, calling upon all government officials to place the circular in the hands of active democrats in their locality, who will at once commence an organization for the purpose of supporting the principles of "our party," as they will be proclaimed by the convention at Louisville on September 3d. A sub-circular was also sent, instructing government officials to be prompt in the discharge of this duty. The circular, which is quite long, makes an appeal to the straight-out democracy not to be sold out by the Baltimore convention, and denounces the coalition movement between the Cincinnati and Baltimore conventions as a rope of sand to sacrifice the democratic party. Notwithstanding that the circular pretends to be issued by Blanton Duncan, who signs it, it has not one word derogatory to the Philadelphia nominees, but contains abuses unlimited of Greeley, Brown, Trumbull, Sumner, Schurz and other leading liberal republicans.

The Patriot, the Greeley organ in Washington, is out with a full expose of the fraud attempted by the Grant committee, and promises to show how Duncan recently received $52,000 for a claim against the treasury department.

THE Philadelphia Press, speaking of the Republican meeting in Wigwam on Friday night in that city, says: "The Republican party of Philadelphia was poorly represented at the meeting. The speakers, with the exception of Capt. Curry, were either fools or knaves." Well, how could it be otherwise, when nearly all the honest men of the country are deserting the cause of the "ring." The office holders, the office expectants, and their numerous relations are about the only material left behind, and they only remain because they are paid to stay.

MEN ought to be as fair in politics as in their ordinary business transactions, but they are not. Here is an instance: Many, otherwise sensible and good men, are denouncing Horace Greeley for bailing Jeff Davis, and yet at the same time are earnestly supporting Henry Wilson for Vice President—the man who first claimed that Jeff Davis' long imprisonment without a trial was "not in accordance with the demands of justice, the spirit of the laws and requirements of the constitution; and that common justice, sound policy and the national honor united in recommending that the said Jefferson Davis be brought to a speedy trial, or that he be released from confinement on bail or on his own recognizance." That he did this is beyond all question, and the proof of it can be found in the preamble and resolution offered by him in the United States Senate in 1867. These will be seen in this weeks issue of the Argus. Clip them, and show them to your unfair neighbor when he upbraids Horace Greeley for doing what Henry Wilson suggested in the Senate of the United States.

HERE AND THERE.

—A severe wind storm on Friday last, unroofed a foundry, the Masonic Temple, and Allen's Block at Chillicothe, Ohio. Mr. Fellonstein and a boy named Goodrich were severely injured.

—The royal mail steamship from Cape Town has arrived at Southampton. The news from the diamond fields is very favorable. Large numbers of the precious stones continue to be found.

—It is reported that the cupola at St. Peter's at Rome shows unmistakable signs of decay. A commission of Papal architects and engineers has been appointed to examine it.

—Nearly 43,000 persons visited the Bethnal Green Museum for the London poor the week before last. The total number admitted since the opening of the institution has been 320,838.

—A vein of gold ore is reported to have been discovered in a stone quarry at Ballinspittle, near Kinsale, county Cork. The police are guarding the quarry, and work has been suspended for a while.

—The Russian fleet, bearing the Grand Duke Alexis, had arrived at Cape Town en route from Rio de Janeiro for the East Indies. Alexis was warmly welcomed by the residents, and expressed his pleasure at the reception.

—Several persons convicted of stealing diamonds have been sentenced to long terms of imprisonment. An American, named Hopkins, was convicted of robbing the mail in Africa, and sentenced to two years imprisonment.

—The Jappanese bark Fu Ju Onasee arrived at San Francisco on Friday afternoon last from Hong Kong, with a cargo of teas. This is the first vessel flying the Jappanese colors, and manned by Japanese, that ever entered an American port.

—The Acting Commissioner of Internal Revenue has decided that the tax on brokers' and bankers' sales of gold and silver bullion and coin, promissory notes, stocks, bonds and other securities, is repealed on and after October 1, 1872.

—A Frenchman (not to be Irish), found holding forth on the Boulevards of Paris on the glories of patriotism in connection with subscribing for the French Loan, was found to be a Prussian.

—A preposterous story is circulating to the effect that sportsmen in New Jersey are shooting musquitoes for snipe. The much greater length of the New Jersey musquito's bill should render such an error impossible.

—A Russian monk is said to have successfully combined sacred and secular business by founding a new religious Order, initiation into which was affected by shaving the neophyte's head, and selling his proselyte's hair to the manufacturers of wigs and chignons.

—Governor Geary paid our town a visit on last Friday. He stopped at the Laird house. The Governor is a robust and fine looking man. The Gov. thinks Hartranft's chances are not very flattering, and that Buckalew certainly will be elected. So do we.—Greensburg Rep. and Dem.

—Advices from Switzerland state that the heat has been almost unbearable. The cattle retire even at daybreak to their stalls. The glaciers have not melted so much for many years. Large masses as big as churches roll over the precipices into the valleys below with a noise like thunder. Wild animals of all kinds are visible. Numerous herds of chamois are pasturing with the cattle.

—A dispatch from Butler, on Friday last, says the fire at the Boydstown well has been extinguished. Three hundred barrels of oil were wasted. A tank has been erected and the well is flowing fifteen barrels per hour. There is intense excitement, and property has advanced a hundred per cent. in Butler. Thousands are visiting the well.

—The nights of St. Crispin, to the number of six hundred are on a strike in Cincinnati. The ground of complaint is partly on account of the enforcement of a rule by the manufacturers of refusing to employ strikers from other factories, and partly on account of manufacturers violating the Crispin's rule which forbids the taking of apprentices not sons of Knights of St. Crispin.

—A Washington dispatch says: The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has under consideration a circular, which will be issued to gaugers in a few days, requiring every beer cask and barrel used to be gauged and size cut on the package. Sizes now used are on hogsheads, barrels, halves, quarters, sixths and eighths. Should the guger find that any of a lower size exceed the pretended capacity they will be either marked the size next above or the owners will have to cut them down.

—Buenos Ayers advices via Panama state that recent floods inundated a large extent of territory around Rio Janeiro and Para, and both of these cities suffered severely. At Para the walls of several business houses were undermined. One large house floated away, two fell, and two bridges of the Estiado Braganza were washed away. On the night of the 8th of July the whole front of the Matry church fell. The banks of the river Ditnia giving way, inundated some sixty houses. Many animals were drowned, the people escaping in boats and on rafts. It is stated also that the river Amizon has overflowed, flooding thousands of miles of country, but details are not received. There was much privation and suffering at Para and Rio Janeiro from the effects of the flood.

POLITICAL.

—Forney's Press is our authority for stating that—

> The Ring journals affect to believe that "the dissatisfaction that once existed with a certain portion of the State ticket is rapidly disappearing." They know better, however, and that the chances of their especial candidates were never slimmer than at present. Every day's developments, every issue of a Ring organ, in fact strengthens the resolve of the independent voters of the party to exercise their inalienable right to scratch the names of unworthy men. And the Ring, too, was never more demoralized. Its hope of counting an immence fraudulent majority for Hartranft and Allen in Philadelphia has been completely dissipated by the activity of the Citizen's Reform Association, which is pledged to secure a fair vote.

—The Ring organs of late have endeavored to make it appear that the Hon. W. A. Wallace exculpated Gen. Hartranft for his connection with the Evans steal. We bet a big apple that not one of them will lay these extracts, from Mr Wallace's Greensburg speech, before their leaders:

> It is assumed and charged that the concluding paragraphs of the report of the Evans committee were intended to and actually do exculpate and acquit General Hartranft from all censure in regard to that infamous transaction. * * * *
> "In expressing our disapprobation of the looseness of official routine" surely no one dreamed that laxity in the executive office where the assets were not filed was the thing condemned. The assets to the full value of a million were in the office of the Auditor General, and their passage therefrom into the hands of Evans without security was "the looseness of official routine" that was in my mind when I drew and signed the report. No one of the committee, either then or since, has expressed any opinion approving the act of the auditor general in this respect.

—Could not the Evening Bulletin of Philadelphia persuade General Hartranft to return some of his ill-gotten gains to the conscience fund of the state? It is proved that Hartranft made exactly two thou-and seven hundred dollars profit in one transaction with Yerkes in the money of the commonwealth. Every dollar of this money belongs to the taxpayers of Pennsylvania, and should be paid into their treasury. If the Bulletin could prevail upon the ring candidate for governor the example might become contagious, and other sums of money of which the state has been defrauded might be sent back to the state treasury from the conscience-smitten plunderers. There have been enough of the petty larceners who, under the lashings of an awakened conscience have, transmitted from five to fifty dollars to the national or state treasury. But none of the officials, jobbers, commissaries and contractors who have filched the people of millions seem yet to have been sufficiently pricked into a sense of their meanness and dishonesty to return a share of their plunder. Let Auditor General Hartranft by the return of the profits in his lawless speculation with Yerkes in the "unexpended balance" try the power of example on some of the great public robbers. It might prove an economical experiment of great value to the treasuries of the state and nation. The Bulletin should labor with him.

"Keeping Alive War Issues,"

Under this heading the Pitt. Chronicle of Aug 23 has a most commendable article, and one that appeals direct to every patriotic heart in the land,. Talk like the following is, indeed, well calculated to bring about a speedy and lasting peace:

> The ablest speech we have heard on the Liberal side in this county was delivered last night in Allegheny, by Prof. Leo Miller, of New-York. He urged that the Republican party was an aggressive party, its mission having been to destroy slavery, that its spirit was still belligerent, and that it could not act as mediator and peacemaker between the sections. He referred to the military picture of Gen. Grant on horseback, which was displayed at Philadelphia, and more particularly to the hostile tone of the administration orators. The advocates of Mr. Greeley are making capital out of the course adopted by several of the Grant speakers. It could not be otherwise. When men from the party platform, declare to large assemblages that the South is as rebellious as ever, that if still cherishes the hope that the Lost Cause may be revived, that it expects, with Democratic and Liberal Republican aid, to overthrow the recent amendments to the constitution, and that in the event of Mr. Greeley's triumph it will demand compensation for the slaves freed by the war, people are led to inquire whether, if this be the condition of things, an administration can be pronounced successful which has so utterly failed to bring about peace and reconciliation. They also take note of the bitterly hostile tone of the speakers and put the question seriously to themselves, whether genuine amity will ever be brought about under such auspices. If at the expiration of seven years these war notes ar still to be sounded, and the passions of men still to be inflamed, why not in 1876, in 1880, and so on until another civil war is precipitated upon the country? * * * *
> Why introduce again the old bitter revengeful issues, the old war to the knife spirit? No people conquered, crushed and humiliated as the Southern people have been, have behaved better than they have behaved. They have atoned for their great offense. In the name of all that is magnanimous and decent do not unleash the dogs of war at every election which we hold. It is foolish. It is ungenerous. It is unjust. It is dangerous.

Certain Defeat Before It—Correspondence from More than one-half of the State—What Intelligent and Responsible Republicans in Thirty-two Counties Say about the Chances of Hartranft and Allen—The Honest and Incorruptible Element of the Party Aroused—Defeat of the Ring and Downfall of Simon Cameron a Positive Fact—October and November—The Examples of 1864.

HARRISBURG, August 15.—I have been at some pains lately to ascertain from observing and reliable men the actual condition of political preference and sentiment in different parts of the State. To do this accurately I wrote to nearly thirty gentlemen, who have a personal knowledge of the people in the respective localities of their residence, for information as to public feeling in reference to the Republican State ticket. Every man I addressed is a Republican, who voted for Lincoln, Curtin, Geary, and Grant. From the replies of these men I condense the following, all of which is a truthful exhibit of what was written in response to my inquiries, and is a faithful reflex of popular sentiment. The men who thus frankly give their opinions are as capable of indicating public sentiment in the localities from which they write as any journalist is to do so for the same people and, in fact, are not as likely to color facts as some journalists. Hence what I subjoin is a fair statement of the condition of Republican sentiment in those parts of Pennsylvania where my correspondents reside:

MIFFLIN COUNTY.

LEWISTOWN, August 8.—Hartranft was never really popular in this county, because our people here have no knowledge of the man, and since he has been identified with so much of the corruption which is peculiar to all State capitals he is looked upon with just suspicion. Here, as elsewhere, Hartranft will be cut. I can count fifty Republicans in Lewistown who will not vote for him. However some of his office-holders, who live here, may deny this, it is true. Look to the returns for the truth of what I write. We want an honest man for Governor. If we had Andy Curtin for a candidate we'd show you what we could do. Hurrah for Andy!

LUZERNE COUNTY.

SCRANTON, August 8.—Notwithstanding the Republican newspaper here has backed water, it has not made a vote for Hartranft which was against him while it denounced his nomination. The Republicans of this county in large numbers will vote against Hartranft to save the party from pollution, and if his defeat loses the State to our Presidential candidate, Grant may blame General Cameron. We know what we are about in this county, and we intend to do what is best for the present and for the future.

WAYNE COUNTY.

HONESDALE, August 5.—I am free to say that I oppose Hartranft because I honestly believe the honor of the State and the life of the Republican party demand his defeat as a rebuke to Simon Cameron. But there are hundreds of men in this county who will vote against Hartranft because they believe he is in league with a Ring of corrupt rascals who are fattening off the State Treasury. The falling off in his vote, as compared with the returns of the last Governor's election, will surprise you and confound the Republicans of other States.

BEAVER COUNTY.

NEW BRIGHTON, August 7.—Beaver county was opposed from the first to Hartranft's nomination, and her Republican vote will show how greatly she detests the men who made him our candidate. You will see after the October election that the Treasury Ring is well understood in this county, and I really believe that Butan, who represents the Ring in this county, will be defeated. There is an opposition here just far enough from Harrisburg to be incorruptible.

BRADFORD COUNTY.

TOWANDA, August 12.—The falling off in the Republican vote on the State ticket for Governor and Auditor General will not be less than 800, and by some it is claimed it will amount to 1,000. The opposition here is to the manner in which the Camerons corrupt the delegates sent to Harrisburg to nominate Republican candidates, and to rebuke the corruptions of the Treasury Ring. There is a deep feeling of resentment on this subject, which will not be satisfied until it has asserted its power.

LEBANON COUNTY.

LEBANON, August 12.—The audacity manifested by those who corruptly secured Hartranft's nomination has aroused a very bitter feeling in this county. Gen. Hartranft's connection with men who, for malfeasance in office, are now serving a term in the penitentiary, rendered him unfit to be the candidate of a great party for the Chief Magistracy of a powerful State, and the manner in which he is shoved on honest men is an insult to which they will not submit tamely. He will be cut 600 votes in this county, and by men who act from their own personal convictions of duty.

ALLEGHENY COUNTY.

PITTSBURGH, August 8.—It requires a tremendous influence to move the Republicans of Alleghany county against a State ticket, but it only required to be made known the facts involved in Hartranft's nomination to damn him as a candidate with a powerful force of Republicans here, where the Cameron faction is utterly odious, and where our people have been instructed in the crimes of its chief by journals like the Commercial, which now apologizes for its excesses. Gen. Hartranft will receive less votes in this county than any Republican candidate for Governor since 1860.

ERIE COUNTY.

ERIE, August 11.—I scarcely know how to reply to your inquiry. You may be certain that there is a feeling of widespread dissatisfaction in this county, and that it is sustained by men who never back down when they once take a position. Hartranft and Allen are both odious to a very large number of our most reputable Republicans, Hartranft being particularly so. He will be cut very largely. No influence can alter this, and he can thank his friends for his defeat. I pity the man, but as a civil officer and politician he has proved himself corrupt and venal. The people know all this and will not vote for him.

WARREN COUNTY.

WARREN, August 7.—Judge Sco field's nomination is a compliment which our people appreciate, but they take little stock in Allen, and regard that of Hartranft as utterly unfit to be made. The fact that Hartranft is the tool of Cameron kills him here. All we know of Cameron's frauds we were taught by such leaders as Scofield, and when a tool of the old Indian is set up as the candidate for high office, there are hundreds of independent Republicans in Warren county who will not vote for him.

HUNTINGDON COUNTY.

HUNTINGDON, August 13.—I never knew a lukewarmness to manifest itself in a State election as strongly as is displayed by the Republicans in in this county at this time. Men who never before refused to support a State ticket are now active and even bitter in opposition to Hartranft, on the ground that he is an instrument of mischief with which the Cameron clique hope to perpetuate their rule in Pennsylvania, and, rather than let this be done, we would see the Republican organization go to pieces. Hartranft must be defeated as a dernier resort to crush out the corrupt Cameron Ring. His vote in this county will be a thousand less than that given to him as a candidate for Auditor General.

CENTRE COUNTY.

BELLEFONTE, August 4.—The Republican vote in Centre county for Hartranft will be a short one. I will not say what the figures will be, but he will lose, and the cause of his unpopularity is the suspicion that he is a tool of the Camerons. On the whole, Centre Republicanism is not in a very good shape. A great many good men here are waiting to hear from Andy Curtin. We love Andy, and will follow him, because he never led us the wrong way, and never will.

SCHUYLKILL COUNTY.

POTTSVILLE, August 9.—Mr. Bannan, of the Journal, is making a tremendous effort for Hartranft, but it is well known here that the articles are written by a clerk in the Auditor General's office, which saves Mr. Bannan just so much pay for an editor; nevertheless, Hartranft will be awfully cut in this county. The Reading Railroad is using all its force against the man, because, whatever Gowen says to the contrary, he has no faith in his official integrity.

ADAMS COUNTY.

GETTYSBURG, August 11.—Adams county feels very cool towards the Republican candidate for Governor, because our Republican fellow-citizens believe his nomination was obtained by fraud. If General Cameron would publicly announce that he is not a candidate for re-election to the United States Senate, it might save Hartranft, but the aversion which our people feel for Cameron is the poison which is killing Hartranft. Men are bound to suffer when found in bad company. Hartranft will run behind his ticket, far behind, in this county.

BLAIR COUNTY.

HOLLIDAYSBURG, August 9.—You want to know how Hartranft stands? Well, I'll tell you. He is suspected of being Cameron's man—his tool, in fact—and that fact, once in the heads of the people of this county, is sufficient to kill any Republican candidate for a State office. Hartranft will be cut very heavily in this county. We all believe here, his friends included, that he will be defeated.

PERRY COUNTY.

NEW BLOOMFIELD, August 5.—I never knew so much opposition to any Republican candidate as that declared here against Hartranft. In answer to your question, I really believe I am correct in saying he will be cut 400 votes in this county. Why, our best old Republicans are against Hartranft and Allen.

There is scarcely a day I do not see some one from Lancaster county—men of intelligence and influence—from all of whom the same report of facts is derived. General Hartranft will run frightfully behind his ticket as ascertained who is put on the local et in the Old Guard, and as soon as it ticket for the Legislature, if they are men in the interest of the Treasury Ring—indeed, if they are not known to be opposed to that cable—an independent ticket will be run, pledged to oppose General Cameron's return to the United States Senate, and it will be elected. Bear in mind I am only giving you facts. I am now digesting, for the benefit of your readers the state of public feeling as it is presented to me in detail by others, from which those who now "run" the Republican party may profit, just as they choose to take it, or, rejecting the solemn warning I herein present, live to see it realized in all its force amid the wreck and ruin of the impending October disaster. The victory of an independent ticket is always gained when he is true in his responses to popular feeling, and I am quite sure that in the reflex I gave you herein, The Press has a splendid vindication of the justice of its course in the pending campaign.
PAXTON.

HOW IS THE GREAT DIVIDE MADE?

The Ring organs in this city and elsewhere, which have been laboring for weeks to screen State Treasurer Mackey from answering the questions we put to him, shoot far wide of the mark we have set up for their benefit. It is an easy matter to dispose of this whole business; and as the Ring organs will not gratify their readers with the figures, it becomes our duty to do so.

What we asked State Treasurer Mackey to do is to furnish us with a list of the banks in which he made his deposits, that we might all know who is speculating with the public funds. This he has declined thus far to do, and we cannot do it for him, because he has frequently refused to allow any one to examine the records of the Treasury, which will show the facts we want to make public. What we can show, however, is the ballance usually in the Treasury. This ballance amounts to from a million to a million and a half dollars a year—say a permanent million. For every dollar the State Treasurer deposits with the banks of the Commonwealth he receives five per cent. interest. Mr. Mackey dare not deny this on oath—he will not do it on his honor. Now, on a million of dollars, at five per cent., the interest is just $50,000. What a snug little sum to divide in a Ring of pleasent gentleman, all of whom are already bowed down with the load of their wealth. But the ballance in the Treasury will average $1,500,000, so that instead of fifty the Ring actually make seventy-five thousands dollars annually from deposits of public money for private banking purposes. It takes a portion of this sum to buy elections, but it must be remembered that a large part of the Treasury balance is used for speculative purposes, which realize much more than five per cent. per year. Indeed, it can be safely asserted that the Treasury Ring accumulates not less than $100,000 per annum by the uses to which they put balances of public money in the hands of the State Treasurer.

There need be no prevarication in this business. We assert that banks which get these deposits from the State Treasurer pay him a five per cent. interest. Under oath, the presidents of the banks thus favored will sustain our declaration, because they do no wrong by the transaction, the crime being in the State Treasurer, who prevents the revenue from flowing into the Treasury as a relief to the overburdened tax payers.

Now the question is, how to stop this gigantic fraud. There is no question about its existence. Ring organs cannot cover it up. The people understand it, and if they are wise they will break up the Ring by whose practices this plundering was originated and will be perpetuated.—Forney's Press

PENNSYLVANIA.

—It is nearly two months before our October election occurs, and by the time that momentous day arrives events may transpire which will give the canvass an entirely different complexion. But as appearances are to-day, nothing in the future is surer than the defeat of Hartranft and Allen. This fact is admitted and testified to evan by the desperate men whose entire energies are being thrown into the contest to avert such a result.

The charges against General Hartranft have not only not been disproved, but they have never been denied. They originated in sworn testimony, in the reports of Legislative committees, and in the associations by which the General is known throughout the Commonwealth. There has been abuse of these making the charges—the editor of THE PRESS has received his full share of it, Mr. Billingsley has been politely called an old Dutch ignoramus, and the committee that signed the Evans report has been branded as fools or knaves. Every syllable of the fish-mongers' vocabulary have been exhausted in vituperation, but not one fact presented in argument. The effect has been to rouse the energies of the hirelings and hangers-on of the Ring, and to intensify the indignation and strengthen the resolution of the thousands of brave and honest Republicans who hold the honor and fair name of their party higher than the selfish interests of any man or clique of men.

While the defeat of Hartranft and Allen is sure, the success of the remainder of our ticket—of Mercur, Albright, Todd, and Scofield—is equally certain. They are men whose ability, integrity, and attainments fit them for the positions for which they have been nominated, and who will command every vote of their party. Grant and Wilson, we believe, will carry the State by as great a majority this year as the first named received in 1868. The Republican organization is as full of life and strength to-day as it was four years ago. The defections from its ranks have been few and unimportant. It is only in a half dozen counties that the Liberals count themselves by the hundred. The great body of the Democratic party, on the other hand has no heart in the Presidential campaign. At Baltimore its delegates accepted Mr. Greeley under protest and nothing but its subserviency and disipline has made it bow to the fiat of the National Convention.

But what will defeat Hartranft and Allen is the stern resolve of the members of all parties to end the rule of corruption in Pennsylvania. For years our politics have been a stench in the nostrils of the land, a scandal and source of weakness to the Republican party everywhere, and an aid and comfort to the Democracy. More flagrant and shameless abuses, if greater frauds, were never known than those that have been the rule in Harrisburg and Philadelphia for the last ten years. Bribery has been the great motive of legislation, and the highest offices have been prostituted to the basest personal ends. This year the corruption seems to have reached its climax. The Legislature was deaf to every appeal to reform our local government, to give us honest elections, or even to be circumspect in its conduct. The hour of reckoning has come.—Forney's Press.

Ask for new style the old is counterfeited.

The Colorado Potato Bug.—The potato bug of Colorado has made its appearance in our county, and has done no little mischief already in one or two localities. In the vicinity of New Brighton and Pulaski township they seem to be more abundant than elsewhere in our county. General Irwin of Pulaski township sent us down, for examination, last week a vial filled with the genuine Colorado bug. They are about three times as large as an ordinary house fly, and covered with yellow stripes which encircle the whole body. We should think from their vicious appearance that they would be almost as efficient in destroying a potato patch as the State Treasury Ring has been in blighting the political morals of the State. Both should be exterminated, and we trust the honest voters of Pennsylvania will not fail to "clean out" the latter at the October election.

The State Fair at Erie.—Among the advertisements to which we call attention is a notice of the exhibition of the Pensylvania State Agricultural Society, to be held at Erie on the 17th, 18th, 19th and 20th of September. These exhibitions are always of great interest; drawing together the best cattle, horses, swine, machinery, for farm or shop, metals, fruits, flowers, seeds, vegetables, cheese, butter, and the thousand other articles that go to make up the huge displays of this society. The premiums are on a scale of great liberality in money, in medals, diplomas or other marks of merit. Every officer of the society does his best to accommodate the exhibitor, whether his display be a fine animal or a bunch of grapes.

The entries are all FREE—so that the exhibitor is at no cost beyond complying with the rules laid down in respect to entries.

An ample park has been laid off and improved within the limits of the city of Erie for this purpose. A fine circle for the display of stock, with substantial and covered accommodations for it, comprising more than three hundred enclosures.

For the products of the dairy, the field, the garden and household fine halls have been erected; for machinery covered spaces and buildings, with steam power to set it in motion; of food and water requisite for the comfort of visitors, so far as experienced foresight has been able every provision has been made. The applications for space are frequent, and will be allotted, as soon as the numerous halls, at present in course of construction are completed, which will not later than the first of September. As no great fair has ever been at Erie, everything will be fresh, and a keen, but kindly rivalry, will take place between the citizens of Canada, Ohio, New York and Pennsylvania, just too at the season of the year that people most enjoy the change from a hot summer to a kindly autumn.

The railroad and transportation lines will take up and lay down articles intended for the show at greatly reduced rates as well as issue excursion tickets to and from Erie.

Prof. Curtiss, the clerk to the Hartranft Committee of this county, has been engaged for some time past in copying the names of all the voters of the county from the Assessor's books in the Commissioner's office. As fast as these are copied he sends each of them a lot of documents, written at so much a column. We presume, to prove that Hartranft had no hand in the Evans steal, nor, in connection with Yerkes, made money by gambling in the stocks of the State. The taxpayer, therefore, who receives those documents need be at no loss to know where they come from, and a little investigation will satisfy him beyond a reasonable doubt that the Treasury Ring pays for their writing, printing and distribution. If that ring can deceive the people into the belief that Hartranft and Allen are honest men, and not the official rogues they really are, its members will be enabled to riot for three years more on money which they neither made nor own.

Another Warning. A young man by the name of John Owens, whose residence was No. 21 West 47th street, New York City, met with an accident which resulted in his death, last Friday, near Remington station. It appears that he endeavored to jump on a passing train, fell between the wheels, and had his leg so crushed that amputation was necessary. Dr. Rose performed the operation, but the young man was so exhausted from loss of blood that, although every effort was made in his behalf, he expired during the night. When will this reckless carelessness cease? The friends of the unfortunate man is engraphed, but without receiving any answer.

Worthy of an Examination. The public would do well to call and examine the large lot of New Goods just received by R. Steinfeld, at his new store, corner of Lock and Broadway, New Brighton. The building itself is a model of beauty and neatness, the first floor being devoted to the purpose of a salesroom, the second floor is used as a cutting room, and the third as a work shop. All are adapted to the business, and exhibit a praiseworthy amount of architectural skill, being well arranged for a Merchant Tailoring Establishment and Clothing House, and is well ventilated, roomy and convenient, as well as tastily fitted up. Mr. Frank Gray, the cutter, is quite a gentleman, and took great pleasure in showing us through the building.

Proceedings of the Greeley, Brown and Buckalew Club.

New Brighton, August 16, 1872.

Editor Argus. Enclosed I hand you the minutes of the meeting held in pursuance with public notice, at the office of Esquire Glass, for the organization of a Greeley, Brown and Buckalew Club, at New Brighton, this evening:

The meeting was called to order by Esq. Glass, who, on motion, acted as temporary Chairman, and Thomas Bradford Secretary pro tem. After reading to them a few paragraphs from speeches made at sundry times by our candidate for next President, illustrating the character of the man they intend to support, the meeting proceeded to elect their permanent officers. Thomas Bradford was chosen President; John Glass, W. W. Simpson and Samuel Barnes, Vice Presidents; T. N. Smith, Cor. Sec'y; Edward Walsh, Sec'y; Emmet Anderson, Treasurer; William Nannah, James Rouly, W. Wallace, Executive Committee, S. W.; Joe. Snellenburg, N. N. Miller and Thomas Mellow, Ex. Com., M. W.; John C. White, B. McDaniel and Joseph Funkhouser, Ex Com, N. W.; R. P. Covert, S. Taylor and J. Jackson, Ex Com, Fallston; Dan. M. Daugherty, Patrick Coyle and Robert Wallace, Ex Com for Pulaski township. George Porter, Thomas Miller and Samuel Barnes were chosen as a Finance Committee, New Brighton: F. Kattarab, Fallston; Wm. Wallace, Pulaski township. On motion the Vice Presidents were chosen to act as a committee on arrangements. A committee on By-laws and Resolutions was chosen, consisting of Wm. Moreland, T. N. Smith, Wm. Wallace, John Edgar and D. M. Daugherty.

SHEFFIELD SPORTING COMPANY.

It was in the month of August, at the later part, That the Sheffield hunters for the hunting grounds did start;
And I tell you what, they were a healthy looking crew;
Each armed with doubled barreled shot-guns, well tried and true.
The crowd was composed;—of the merchants who left their store,
And went to the woods with the rest, to hunt a great bore
And there was Reddy, with eyes so very clear and bright,
Who could shoot every squirrel that came into his sight.
And also Samuel, Jeff. J. P., Cass and William Mac.,
And next comes Shorty, though small when standing in a row,
Is not behind, when they commence their bugle to blow.
And they also have George, the blacksmith-shop with his gun,
Who can put on sights wh-n they get lost during the fun.
But Langy says, "dog-on me you know, I will not go
Till I get a gun that the sight won't come off, you know."
A week in preparation spent, and nothing they lack,
Except a large vessel, in which their game they could pack.
The suggestions that were made, were neither small nor few;
Till one proposed, that his fifty-gallon cask might do.
Sometimes you can hear them blushing, and sometimes they're grunting,
And each one can tell you (What I know about hunting,)
All the provisions were ready prepared, nice and fine,
And they all said, that they will (Hunt it out on this line) if time came, and away they all did go;
But when they come back, they will make an excellent show.
If we are allowed to judge from experience past, Of the great hunting time they had, when they were out last
We wish them no harm, but wish them a great deal of joy.
And hope nothing will turn up to molest or annoy.
We confess, we would like to enjoy with them the sport,
So that we could, what we know about hunting, report.

Yours truly, Timothy Tompkins.

Beaver College opens its Fall Session September 10. This is often the most favorable term for those who have a long distance to walk. We would say to our young people, do not fail to secure all the education your parents can afford you. You will find it a good investment in a very few years. There ought to be at least a dozen young men who should take hold of the Course of this institution with a view of completing it and taking its diploma. It is a great advantage to have an object in view, some end to reach. Let there be a large home attendance of vigorous, earnest students.

Examination of Phillipsburg Soldiers' Orphan School.

—Communities are always interested in the evidences of progress in the Soldiers' Orphan Schools. We have therefore procured the official report of their late examination, that took place in the presence of many visitors. It was conducted by Hon. J. P. Wickersham, L. L. D., Supt. of Common Schools, assisted by County Supt. Knight, in the presence of the County Com. of Soldier's Orphan Schools. It was a general conclusion among the many visitors present that Dr. Wickersham is a master among examiners, and that Supt. Knight showed he was a workman that need not be ashamed.

The examiners said, at the conclusion of the examination, that the results brought out by the examination were most satisfactory to them, and creditable to the scholars, and to Prof. W. C. Taylor and his corps of experienced teachers, among whom is Prof. S. H. Pierson.

The standard of the class book was more than sustained by the examination as the figures below will show, and the general average of all the grades, above the second, will show the most remarkable success in the education of these Orphans. In the class book the general average is 90, and on examination it was 91, the standard being 100. The children showed no fear though examined by the State Supt., but were eager and prompt to answer, and seemed really sorry when their time had expired.

The boys were examined in military drill and showed creditable proficiency for the time they had been drilling.

The entire establishment was inspected and every thing found in perfect order and cleanliness; and all the sanitary regulations satisfactory.

In the evening the school gave a literary exhibition, consisting in original essays, recitations and declamations, and vocal and instrumental music. With these Dr. Wickersham expressed himself as much gratified and pleased.

Dr. Wickersham presented the two gold, and nine silver prizes, and six bibles, in a handsome speech to the successful competitors. The nine silver prizes are given by Mrs. Taylor in the sewing department as a motive to the highest skill in the necessary household labor.

The others were given by Prof. Taylor to secure an honorable competition among the children. The three highest prizes the children, as well as the faculty vote by ballot, who is most worthy of them.

George Billings of Pittsburgh took the first prize, a handsome gold medal, for the highest attainment in department, scholarship and industry. The second and third prizes, handsome silver medals, were awarded to Irene M. Cole and Eliza Carney, for the greatest improvement in character, scholarship, and industry.

An ample dinner and supper were provided for all visitors.

Liberal Mass Meeting in Beaver Falls.

—The Liberal Mass Meeting held in Beaver Falls on Tuesday evening of last week, was quite a large gathering and was presided over by W. S. Morlan, esq., of New Brighton, on taking the chair Mr. M. made a few felicitous remarks, after which, Prof. Leo Miller, a Liberal Republican of New York addressed the audience in a speech of about one hour and a half's duration. The address itself was a masterly production, and was listened to with marked attention by those present. Prof. Miller took higher ground as than political speakers generally do, and his effort on this occasion was a specimen of christian statesmanship rarely met with from the stump. We never saw a crowd of people better pleased with their orator, and it will be strange if, out of the 1,500 or 2,000 persons present there were not scores of converts made to "Reconciliation and lasting Peace" between the two sections of our country.

At the conclusion of Prof. Miller's address, loud calls were made for S. B. Wilson, esq., of Beaver, who ascended the platform, and gave his reasons for voting for the Cincinnati platform and the Cincinnati nominees, when a delegate at the Baltimore Convention. Mr. W. made some good points during his short speech, and retired amid considerable applause. Capt. McClelland was also called out and thanked the people for what they had done for him two years ago, and modestly suggested that a repetition at the next election would not be construed into an offense. The meeting adjourned with three cheers for Greeley, Brown and Buckalew.

New-Brighton, August 26th, 1872.

Editor Argus:—Men whose veracity is undoubted, and men that would not misrepresent knowingly, will persist that if Greeley is elected that he will advocate the paying of the Rebel debt, and pay for the emancipated slaves. Any man that tells such things, is either a fool or a liar, when it requires the sanction of three fourths of the States of this Union to change the Constitution, would it be possible to get that many in favor of paying for slaves or the rebel debt?

Sec. 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law including the debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned but neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave, but all such debts, obligations and claims, shall be held illegal and void. Liberal.

About Cutlery.—Mr. Samuel Mason, who has been engaged in the cutlery business in this County for a number of years past, is about to remove to Canton, Stark county, Ohio, to engage in his old occupation again. It is needless to say that we wish Mr. Mason great success in business in his new location. The people of Canton and vicinity will find Mr. Mason a gentleman in every sense of the word and worthy of their confidence. We clip the following letter written by him to one of the papers in Canton, and publish it for the information it contains:

"For Rep. & Rep.—Sirs:—We had the pleasure of visiting your city a few days ago, and we were highly delighted with its extraordinary developments, and the lavish encouragement from the citizens in donation of land and capital, to parties seeking to locate new industries. By so doing you can now boast of greater progress than any other town of its population in the State.

We visited the Steel Works of C. Aultman & Co., and our thoughts were carried back to the stone age, when steel was unknown to man, and man was content with his flint ax and bone headed spear. A very poor, inforked radish of a man he must have been in those days, and, had any one descended from another world, and presented him with one of those fine ivory handled knives, (made by Samuel Mason & Sons), with its fine polished blade, its beautiful shaped handle with its small hole in the center, would it not have puzzled the barbarian, how the Lord's prayer could be compressed into such a miniature hole? Would he not have danced a dance of triumph on the spot, and concluded the performance by pirouting on one leg enraptured with the gift? Why, surely the knife completes the man! Such a knife is a supplementary faculty, or rather a bundle of new faculties, rolled up in a compact form. One portion teaches how to address his Maker, who is in Heaven, and locates him in Heaven, and teaches him to pray—"Give us this day our daily bread."

You need to be intimately acquainted with some men before you find out the half of what is in them. It is much the same with a good knife. A good spring knife resembles a gentleman in this particular, that it goes through an elaborate term of education, If I may use the word, and is in consequence of an even temper and a fine polish. You can have no conception, no suspicion even, of the number of hands it takes to bring up an ordinary two-bladed spring knife to its highest state of development.

You see that slender bar of steel? That bar is a length of incipient blades. The knife-blades are in it now, and they have to come out of it, and it is worth while to note the magic by which they are taken out.

During the last thirty years, only some half dozen Americans have acquired the art of pen blade forging. The artificer places the small bar of steel in the fire, returns it red-hot, and gives off a tiny piece to the forger, who, by a few swift strokes of his hammer, "jumps" it, by which is meant the imparting to it the rough form of a pocket-knife blade. The end of the blade where the tang or shoulder has to be, is reheated, after which it receives the shape required.

Once more it is returned to the fire to be softened for heat, in order that it might be smithed. This smithing puts more of the graces of form on the unground blade, and is completed by stamping the nail mark, or mark for the thumb nail, on its upper side.

The blade is now sent to the grinder to have the tang ground, and from the grinder it comes back to be marked with the name of the firm. Shakspeare says in Romeo and Juliet:

"What's in a name? that which we call a rose
By any name would smell as sweet."

Not with a knife! Call a Rodgers, Wostenholm or a Mason & Son's knife by any other name, and twenty-five per cent. at once falls from their market value. The market process is the talisman of their fame, their superscription goes further than did the image and superscription of Cæzer Augustus.

After putting on the name the next process is that of hardening, by heating the blade up to a red heat and dipping in water up to, but no further than the tang. The hardened blade is tempered by using put upon a copper plate, and when it is heated up to the tint, which is of a bluish yellow, it is withdrawn and plunged into water again. At this stage the blade goes into the warehouse. After examination by the foreman, if they pass muster, the forger receives a credit of dollars and cents per gross. They are then given out to the grinders. The workman that forges a blade cannot grind a blade, neither can a grinder of blades forge a blade. Each must be perfect in the part he performs.

I am afraid that it would be wearying my readers were I to describe in detail all the quick kinds of work which go to the hafting of a good spring knife. The simple blade itself has already gone through twelve several and distinct processes before it has come near the first of the multitude of men solely employed in hafting. It is a polished blade now, well advanced in position having a name to boast of—Samuel Mason & Son's—and it is smiling brightly, as at this stage it is going to have a handle to its name. Needless would it be now to tell all about the several brass, bone made, how the lobsters are stamped up from the best quality of German silver, the brightest castle springs, made from the best steel, the drilling, glazing, buffing, and burnishing. It is worth full twice 100 cents to behold the ivory handles in the buffing wheels, and to observe the beautiful face put upon the knives by this process. When the knife has passed through all these manipulations and the inspection of the foreman, who must be a practical workman, the cutler then obtains a credit of dollars and cents per dozen.

After inspection, the handle part of the knife is wrapped up in paper, with two of the blades extended, and each knife is now ready to be given out to the grinder, who, by way of finish, glazes the larger blades upon a fine emery wheel, and the smaller blades are glazed upon a bead wheel called a "lap," which produces a very smooth, even surface capable of taking a bright crocus polish.

They then undergo another inspection and if satisfactory, passed on to the whetter who puts on the fine edge. After which they are handed over to smart young girls, who, working under sufficient, wipe and wrap them in fine tissue paper. They are then placed in a neat box, numbered, and passed forward to the storeroom for distribution.

Those of my readers who have perused Greeley's "What I know of Farming," have been told by that philosopher that "the who can make two blades grow where only one grew before is a public benefactor." What, then shall we say to the artificer who takes that slender bar of steel, which is the length of incipient blades, and by his intrinsic skill makes blades grow out of a knife all over? The writer of this article produced a specimen of blades some fifteen years ago—a knife containing 365 blades—which knife has been on exhibition in the city of New York, at Mr. I. Sanderson's, in his window, under the Astor House during the above named period, thousands of American citizens have seen the knife, supposing it to be of Sheffield make, which, if the knife was allowed to speak for itself, it would say "I am an American made, both haft and blade."

With kind regards to the citizens of Canton who are taking an interest in the Cutlery, I am respectfully

Samuel Mason.

In passing through Broadway a few days ago, we were quite surprised to see such a large display of all kinds of Hosiery in one of the show windows, and looking for the sign over the door, we noticed the name of M. Schiff. Not being aware that our old friend was so heavy in this article we entered his dry goods store and he gave us the following explanation:

He intends to use the room next to his dry goods store for a show and ware room of his own make of woolen seamless socks, ladies' and children's hose, mittens and other articles in this line, which he manufacturers on the Franz & Pope Knitting Machine. This Knitting Machine is the best one invented, as a pair of socks with heel and toe complete, can be knit on the same in fifteen minutes, besides everything can be knit on it, that can be done by hand by the old, slow motion. To form an idea of this wonderful machine, it ought to be seen working, or people hardly will believe that it is possible that all those fancy articles, which Mr. Schiff has exhibited, can be done by the knitter. He informs us that he will offer for one month only, extra easy terms to those who intend getting one of the machines, which cost $40, and can be obtained until Sept. 15, by paying a small sum, and the balance can be given in work.

SPEECH OF HORACE GREELEY AT PORTLAND, ME.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN: It is certainly true that in the course of my life, as far as I have been connected with public affairs, I have struggled with such capacity as God has given me for, first impartial and universal liberty; second, for the unity and greatness of our common country; third, and by no means least, when the former end was attained, for early and hearty reconciliation and peace among our countrymen. For these great ends I have struggled, and I hope the issue of the third is not doubtful. I thoroughly comprehend that no personal consideration has drawn together this vast assembly. Other, higher, and grander considerations have collected you around me to-day. [Cheers.]

Mr. Chairman, it is part of the unwritten law of our country that a candidate for President may not make speeches in vindication and commendation of the principles whereupon he is supported, nor the measures which his election is intended to promote, though a candidate for Vice President is under no such inhibition. I not merely acquiesce in the restriction, I recognize and affirm its propriety. The temptation to misreport and misrepresent a candidate for the higher grade is so great, the means of circulating such perversions among people who will never see a word of their refutation are so vast, that a candidate has no moral right to subject his friends to the perils he must brave, if not invite, by taking a part in the canvass. Yet there is a truth to be uttered in behalf of those who have placed me before the American people in my present attitude, which does them such honor that I claim the same privilege of stating it here and now.

This is that truth: No person has yet made the fact that he purposed to support, or actually did support my nomination, whether at Cincinnati, at Baltimore, or in the action that resulted in sending delegates to either of the conventions, the basis of a claim to office at my hands. No one who favored my nomination before either convention, or at either convention, has sought office at my hands, either for himself or any one else; nor has any one suggested to me that I might strengthen myself as a candidate by promising to appoint any one to any important office whatever. [Loud cheers. In a very few instances, less than a dozen I am sure, certain of the smaller fry of politicians have, since my eligible nomination, hinted to me by letter that I might increase my chance of election by promising a post-office or other place to my volunteer correspondents respectively. I have not usually responded to these overtures, but I now give a general notice that, should I be elected, I will consider the claims of these untimely aspirants after those of the more modest and reticent shall have been fully satisfied. Loud cheers.

In two or three instances I have been asked to say whether I would or would not, if elected, confine my appointments to republicans. I answer these by pointing to that plank of the Cincinnati platform wherein all who concur in the principles therein set forth are cordially invited to participate in their establishment and vindication. I never yet heard of a man who invited his neighbors to help him raise a house and proceeded to kick them out of it as soon as the roof was fairly over his head. For my own part I recognize every honest man who approves and adheres to the Cincinnati platform as my political brother, and as such fully entitled to my confidence and friendly regard. Cheers.

One other point demands a word. Those averse to me ask what pledges I have given to those lately hostile to the Union to secure their favor and support. I answer: "No man or woman in all the South ever asked me, whether directly or through another, any other pledge than is given in all acts and words from the hour of Lee's surrender down to this moment. No Southern man has ever hinted to me an expectation, hope or wish that the rebel debt, whether confederate or state, should be assumed or paid by the union, and no southern man who could be elected to the legislature or made colonel of a militia regiment ever suggested the pensioning of rebel soldiers or any of them, even as a remote possibility." All who nominated me are perfectly aware that I had upheld and justified federal legislation to suppress the ku-klux conspiracy and outrages, though I had long and insisted as strenuously as I now do that complete amnesty and a genuine oblivion of the bloody, hateful past would do more for the suppression and utter extinction of such outrages, than all the force bills and suspension of habeas corpus ever devised by man. Wrong and crime must be suppressed and punished, but for wise and milder is the legislation, the policy by which they are prevented. Loud cheering.

From those who oppose me in the south I have heard but one demand—justice; one desire—conciliation. They wish to be heartily reunited and at peace with the north, on any terms which do not involve a surrender of their manhood. They ask that they shall be regarded and treated by the federal authorities as citizens, not culprits, so long as they obey and uphold every law consistent with equity and right. Those desire a rule which is alike for white and black, shall encourage industry and thrift, and discourage sloth and villainy. They cherish a joyous hope, in which I fully concur, that between the 5th of November and the 4th of March next quite a number of the governors and other dignitaries who, in the abused name of republicanism and loyalty, have for years been piling debts and taxes upon their war-wasted states will follow the wholesome example of Bullock, of Georgia, and seek the shades of private life. The darker and denser those shades the better for themselves and for mankind. And the hope that my election may hasten this much desired begin of the thieving carpet-baggers, has reconciled to the necessity of supporting me many who would otherwise have hesitated and probably refused. Loud cheering.

Fellow-citizens: The deposed and partially exiled Tammany ring has stolen about thirty millions of dollars from the city of New York. That was a most gigantic robbery, and hurled its contrivers and abettors from power and splendor to impotency and infamy; but the thieving carpet-baggers have stolen at least thrice this amount—stolen it from the already impoverished and needy, and they still flaunt their prosperous villainy in the high places of the land, and are addressed as honorable and excellency. I think I hear a voice from the honest people of all the states declaring that this iniquity shall be gainful and insolent no longer, at farthest, than to the 4th of March next. By that time these criminals will have heard a national verdict pronounced that will cause them to fold their tents like Arabs and silently—steal away; and that I trust will be the end of their stealing at the cost of the good name of our country and the well-being of her people.

Two Precedents for Mr. Errett,

When Abraham Lincoln was chosen President, Senator McClure was chairman of the Republican State Committee, and then, as now, a Republican Senator. He is now conducting the Liberal campaign, and will announce the election of Greeley as he did that of Lincoln.

When Gen. Grant was chosen President Hon. Galusha A. Grow was chairman of the Republican State Committee. We give in another column his cogent reasons for supporting Greeley.

As bolting is the order of the day, would not our Grant friends do well to appoint a safe committee to see that Mr. Errett, present Grant chairman, is not swept off by the Liberal tide before the election?—Phil. Post.

JEFFERSON and HARTRANFT.

"When I first entered upon the stage of public life—now twenty-four years ago—I came to a resolution never to engage, while in public office, in any kind of enterprise for the improvement of my fortune. I have never departed from it in a single instance; and I have, in multiplied instances, found myself happy in being able to decide and to act as a public servant, clear of all interest in the multiform questions that have arisen."—Thomas Jefferson.

Without doubt the ring candidate for Governor is not a Thomas Jefferson, for we find him, while holding the responsible office of Auditor General, engaged in all sorts of enterprises for the improvement of his fortune. He invested in Oil Creek and Allegheny Valley Railroad stock, as the following letter to "Dear Yerkes" shows:

"AUDITOR GENERAL'S OFFICE, HARRISBURG, March 9, 1870.—Dear Yerkes: Buy as soon as possible 100 shares of Oil Creek and Allegheny Valley railroad, and then have my account, or rather an abstract made from my account, so that I can see the exact loss I have sustained in Oil Creek. Let me have this as soon as you conveniently can. The Attorney General has given a decision against our settlement on Oil Creek which takes the starch right out. I don't know what to think about buying Oil Creek as a future investment. If you think well of it you may think that the chances are that it will go up, but as everything else is drooping, but little can be expected from Oil Creek. What do you think of gold? Yours, etc.

JOHN F. HARTRANFT."

It would seem, however, that this enterprise, owing to the Attorney General's decision, did not result in any improvement to his fortune. That he speculated in other stocks to a large amount is clearly proved by the fact that his dealings with Yerkes & Co. amounted in the short space of five months to $681,890.47. But his speculations were not confined to stocks. "He also," says Benj. Bannon of the Miners Journal, "went into land speculation where he could make something."

In the opinion of Thomas Jefferson to engage in such enterprises for the improvement of private fortune, was reprehensible in a public servant like Auditor General Hartranft. But what would the Virginia statesman have thought of a public servant who carried on these enterprizes with the public funds? General Hartranft did so as appears by the following affidavit of "Dear Yerkes" his broker.

"Charles T. Yerkes, jr., of the city of Philadelphia, being duly sworn according to law doth depose and say that for some years past he has been acquainted with J. F. Hartranft, Auditor General of the State of Pennsylvania; that he has at various times bought and sold stock of different kinds, and carried the same with money belonging to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, which the said J. F. Hartranft had caused to be deposited with this deponent by the State Treasurer.

"That this deponent did pay to J. F. Hartranft, Auditor General, on the 10th of December, 1870, the sum of two thousand seven hundred dollars, which sum was derived from profits on purchases of loans of the Commonwealth and sales of the same to the Sinking Fund, which sale was made on the 20th of April, 1870.—

"That said deponent has also paid to the said J. F. Hartranft various amounts of money for profits arising from stock speculations with money deposited with this deponent by the State Treasurer at the instance of the said Hartranft. C. T. YERKES, JR."

Sworn and subscribed before me the 23d day of December, A. D. 1871.

[seal] WM. W. DOUGHERTY,
Alderman.

906 Walnut street, Philadelphia.

General Hartranft also received from George O. Evans $7,000 of the money of the Commonwealth to invest in land "where he could make something," and we have been told by the editor of the Miner's Journal that this money was given to the Auditor General by Evans "to oblige General Hartranft and secure his favor," and that "that was the light, no doubt, in which General Hartranft viewed it when he first refused it and afterwards took it." Shade of Thomas Jefferson, what a confession! Even this does not close the chapter, for, from Alfred R. Calhoun, U. S. Pension Agent at Philadelphia, General Hartranft borrowed $8,700, which is safe to infer was money belonging to the United States, and that it was repaid to Calhoun out of the money in the State Treasury, the following letter pretty conclusively proves:

"AUDITOR GENERAL'S OFFICE, HARRISBURG, December 21, 1871.

Dear Yerkes: Calhoun telegraphed me to-day for money, and I had to give a check for $8,700, which he will present to you to-morrow (22). I can not avoid this. I met Mackey here on Monday. He went west in the afternoon and will not return until Monday. I did not like to ask him again, but I did not think Calhoun would want any money so soon. I will see you on Saturday, and whatever you want I will do. I will meet Mackey here on Monday, and whatever is necessary I will ask him to do.

J. F. HARTRANFT.

P. S.—Will lift Calhoun's check on Saturday, and give you certificate of deposit to that amount. J. F. H."

We may add, to complete this damning chapter of malfeasance on the part of Auditor General Hartranft that "Dear Yerkes" is now serving a term of years in the Penitentiary for larceny; that George O. Evans robbed the State of $291,000, and that Calhoun resigned his position as United States Pension Agent to avoid dismission as a defaulter to the United States Government.

As a result of adherence to the resolution which Jefferson came to when he first entered upon the stage of life, he could say at the close of his public career, "Thus I have thought myself richer in contentment than I should have been with any increase of fortune." Hartranft, by pursuing the opposite course, may have increased his fortune, but he has lost the confidence of his fellow-citizens and is, doubtless, without that contentment which attends the strict performance of duty.

SIMON CAMERON.

A Sketch of His Corrupt Career by Col. Forney—His Whole Rotten Record Exposed.

[Special Dispatch to the Boston Herald.]

NEW-YORK, July 29. Col. John W. Forney has a savage attack in a morning paper addressed to Simon Cameron, charging him with every manner of corruption and fraud, and adding: "General Cameron is the original author of all the last mean, plunder and prostitution which have disgraced the elective franchise, the legislation and the management of the finances of Pennsylvania. I need not tell how this man started in public life as an Indian Agent, how Gen. Jackson spurned him, how he plundered the Indians whom he was delegated to protect, how he goaded the Canal Board of Pennsylvania, how he won and abused the confidence of Governor George Wolfand Governor David R. Porter, both of whom abhorred him because he cheated them and betrayed the trust they reposed in him, how he managed to have his brother appointed Superintendent of motive power on the railroad owned by Pennsylvania, that he might secure contracts for supplies, how he engaged in contracts while he was President of the Lebanon Valley Railroad until the holders drove him from the position, how to this day he is forced to disgorge to make up the losses of some of the sub-contractors on that road for fear of exposure and criminal prosecution, how he and his family fattened on the Northern Pacific Railroad, and how his business and financial acts in every transaction in which he has ever been engaged are steeped in corruption, blackened with suspicion and deformed by shame. The archieves of both the State and National Governments contain enough of his shame and rebuke to make his name execrable while there is a being to bear it in his native State." The result of such a public career has been to render Gen. Cameron completely infamous and utterly odious in Pennsylvania. He is regarded there as at the head of a ring as villainous as that of Tammany in New-York. While he was Secretary of war he's satellites were enriched as if by magic, and any one familiar with the banks of the Susquehanna river, fronting Harrisburg, has seen in the places which rise in that neighborhood the results of the Cameron ring plunder while the old chief was Secretary of War. He lives in a palace, remodelled and refurnished, purchased by the horse and mule contractors and presented to him during his time in the War Department, at a cost of $75,000. His son occupies another mansion only a few squares higher up the river, the cost of whose banqueting hall would pay for the best farm in Dauphin county, while its proud tower frowns with haughty disdain on an unfinished monument, which the citizens of Harrisburg are too poor to complete, to the memory of those who perished in a struggle out of which young Cameron coined several millions of dollars."

HONEST MEN, READ!

There is a great deal of dissatisfaction with the Republican State Ticket, viz. HARTRANFT, BY HIS CONNECTION WITH THE EVANS SWINDLE, AND ALLEN, BECAUSE OF HIS VOTES FOR THE NINE MILLION STEAL.—Lancaster Volksfreund.

We regret that as long as Auditor General Hartranft was on the stand before the Evans Investigating Committee HE DID NOT TELL ALL HE KNEW concerning the affair.—Pittsburgh Gazette.

Your committee have not language sufficiently strong to express their disapprobation of so bold an outrage, or fitting terms in which to characterize THOSE IN OFFICIAL POSITION WHO SEEK TO PALLIATE OR EXCUSE THE WRONG.—Hon. Jas. L. Graham.

If they are not disproved [charges against Hartranft] they will be accepted as true by the people. IT WILL NOT DO TO MAKE HARTRANFT OUR CANDIDATE.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

They cannot but express their disapprobation of the looseness of OFFICIAL ROUTINE THAT PLACED IN THE HANDS OF EVANS OVER A MILLION OF DOLLARS OF VALUABLE ASSETS WITHOUT REQUIRING FROM HIM ANY SECURITY WHATEVER.—Hon. Harry White

Evans collected $184,168 31 and retains the whole. STATE OFFICIALS KNEW THIS FACT FOR THREE YEARS BEFORE IT BECAME PUBLIC, AND THE NEGLECT TO REPORT THE TRANSACTION TO THE LEGISLATURE IS REGARDED BY US AS A GROSS DERELICTION OF OFFICIAL DUTY.—Hon. D. N. White.
